Sermon Title: The Captives Are Freed

Scripture: Ezra 1: 1-5

In the first year of Cyrus king of Persia, in order to fulfill the word of the Lord spoken by Jeremiah, the Lord moved the heart of Cyrus king of Persia to make a proclamation throughout his realm and also to put it in writing:

"This is what Cyrus king of Persia says:

"The Lord, the God of heaven, has given me all the kingdoms of the earth and he has appointed me to build a temple for him at Jerusalem in Judah. Any of his people among you may go up to Jerusalem in Judah and build the temple of the Lord, the God of Israel, the God who is in Jerusalem, and may their God be with them. And in any locality where survivors may now be living, the people are to provide them with silver and gold, with goods and livestock, and with freewill offerings for the temple of God in Jerusalem."

Then the family heads of Judah and Benjamin, and the priests and Levites—everyone whose heart God had moved—prepared to go up and build the house of the Lord in Jerusalem.

Pat Suba Visitation & Thank You Note

The visitation for Pat Suba will be at Westgate this Monday night, May 2nd, from 6:00 to 8:00 p.m., come and go. The family will be there so you can extend your condolences. Be thinking of a memory to write down on a note card (provided) so Ms. Pat's family will know what she meant to this congregation. Pat's daughter Lea brought by this thank you note written by Pat before she passed away:

There are many ways to say "Thank You", but all of them together would never begin to express my feelings for my church family.

For 14 years you have given me love, laughter and TLC. You have shared my ups and downs. You have let me love your children—a blessing beyond words—and shared your love for God, church and family.

In deep gratitude,
Pat Suba

The Democratization of Truth—by Brady Horner

As I have been reflecting on Jesus's last week in Jerusalem challenging Temple authority, I can't help but see how history repeats itself. Jesus was critiquing a system that became so powerful, so comfortable, so much a part of the assumed norm, that it was easily corrupted. No one could really do anything about it! It needed to be attacked. Many of our institutions today are starting to look similar. Our trust in traditional institutions and authorities as a culture is quickly deteriorating. We are looking to alternative sources for truth, hope, and help. This is good and bad.

Think about it, very few people really trust the government (although we are more likely to trust them when they tell us what we want to hear). We don't trust mainstream media sources, so we turn to obscure online sources. "Big Pharma" has been critiqued so heavily that even people who aren't hippies are looking to alternative forms of medicine. Distrust and failures in the public school system has led to a huge growth in homeschooling (if you think about it, many homeschooling families tend to be anti-institutional). People distrust traditional sources of education and science so much that modern people have been duped into believing the world is flat. Saying "I'm spiritual not religious" often means "I like God, but don't trust institutionalized religion." The deconstruction movement that questions mainstream Christianity's practices, use of the Bible, and systems we have set up, is more popular than ever.

Most of these movements that question authority and institutions are led by people like the disciples... "uneducated ordinary men." The internet has taken people like this (who haven't worked their way up to the top by traditional means) and given them a mike and a platform. Honestly, many online "influencers" shouldn't be influencers. There is a lot of bad information out there, it's the blind leading the blind. However, some of these voices should be heard. We need to listen to these people who see things from a different angle, people who aren't just regurgitating what the "corrupt systems" have told them. Ultimately, we are living in a world where everyone and everything has a voice and it's hard to know what to trust...what a mess. The democratization is great, the confusion is not. This next article series will explore some of the repercussions of this new democratization of truth.

Children's Ministry News

In 2 Kings 6:8-23, God has been showing the prophet Elisha secret battle plans from the enemy country of Aram. The king of Aram is mad and sends a great army to surround Elisha and his servant. But Elisha can see another army all around them—God's army. God opens the eyes of Elisha's servant to see the army, too. God is everywhere, so we look for him around us.

Many thanks to all the youth helpers who assisted in the combined class last week. Elijah and the chariot of fire was taught as we explored the mysteries and the promises of God.

Please sign-up in the hallway to help with our birth to three children on Wednesday nights. Appreciation to all volunteers. An older elementary child can assist if desired.

Plan to join us for Field Day VBS, Growing Strong in God's Truths, on June 18th, 10 a.m. – noon. Families are invited to attend and cheer.
